GLOSSARY

Terminologies	Definition
Alternatives	Alternative investments are assets that do not fall into one of the conventional investment categories such as equity, bond and cash. Alternative asset classes include commodities, real estate, foreign currency, insurance products, derivatives, venture capital, private equity, and distressed securities.
Asset Allocation	Asset allocation depicts the various asset classes in a portfolio and provides a breakdown of the currency composition for each asset class.
Asset Class	An asset class is a grouping of investments that exhibit similar characteristics.
Cash account	Cash accounts hold the funds necessary to settle trades.
Commodities	Commodities are basic goods interchangeable between producers, such as grains, gold, beef, oil, and natural gas.
Debt	Debt securities are financial assets that entitle their owners to a stream of interest payments. The interest rate for a debt security will depend on the perceived creditworthiness of the borrower. Fixed income instruments such as government and corporate bonds are a common type of debt security.
Derivatives	A derivative is a security with a price that is dependent upon or derived from one or more underlying assets. The derivative itself is a contract between two or more parties based upon the asset or assets. Its value is determined by fluctuations in the underlying asset.
Deposits with other institutions	Fixed deposits in the custody account but held at other institutions than MCB.
Equities	Equities are shares in the ownership of a company. These shares are typically traded on a stock exchange.
Exchange Rate	An exchange rate is a rate at which one currency is exchanged for another currency. The latest MCB indicative foreign exchange mid-rates are used (and it may not reflect the actual value of your investment).
	Forward Foreign Exchange Deals refer to the foreign exchange transaction in currencies provided or supported by the designated bank/s on an a specific day.
